

The mark of responsible forestry

The Forest Stewardship Council™ is an international non-profit organization that assures environmentally appropriate, socially beneficial and economically viable forest management. FSC was founded in 1993 in response to public concern about degradation of forest values, deforestation and demand for a trustworthy wood labeling system. Our independent and third party forest certification and on-product labeling of wood, paper, and other forest products allow businesses and consumers to choose products from well-managed forests — those that are managed to meet the social, economic and ecological needs of present and future generations.
